Known as “the waterfall park,” Wells Gray Provincial Park boasts more than 250 cascades, including the spectacular Helmcken Falls. Drive there for a terrific photo op or reach it on foot via the Helmcken Brink Trail. You’ll find plenty of great trails to hike in this grand wilderness full of wildflowers and wildlife. Also nearby: river rafting, canoeing, mountain biking, lake cruises and kayaking. Set among pines and shade trees, KOA lies about 6 miles from the park. If you come unequipped for camping, book a Kamping Kabin or a room in the on-site motel. Undo the kinks in the heated pool. Have fun with mini golf, sand volleyball and other games.

The mountains make the magic at the Revelstoke KOA. They’re the glorious backdrop for the campground’s 40 acres of trees, flowers, quiet walkways and grassy sites. The large pool (55' x 36'), playground, game room and other pleasures keep folks busy. An Aquatic Centre pass is available when the pool is not in operation. You’ll enjoy wireless Internet, cable TV, an activity area, a duck pond and a meeting hall. Mount Revelstoke and Glacier national parks are the main draws, and your hosts can set you up with maps and outfitters for a variety of activities. Walking trails are close by, as well as golfing. This KOA is just off the Trans-Canada Highway and minutes from town, with several charming restored Victorian buildings. Nearby activities include whitewater rafting, hiking, fishing, ATV tours, Revelstoke Dam, Grizzly Plaza (live music), hot springs and more! Log chalet (with air-conditioning and TV) and tepee rentals are available.

En route to or from the snowcapped mountains of Glacier and Banff national parks, the Sicamous KOA makes an ideal stopover. Its quiet wilderness setting is just off Trans-Canada Highway 1, minutes from the deep blue waters and beaches of Shuswap and Mara lakes. Sicamous rightly calls itself the "Houseboat Capital of Canada," but that's not the only nautical way to enjoy the lakes. Take a stern-wheeler tour on Shuswap Lake past ancient petroglyphs. Spot hidden streams and waterfalls glinting with sunlight among dark green trees. Then head back for a float in KOA's pool. Pancake breakfasts, movies, fireworks, evening ice cream socials and nature walks are regular events in the summer. Kamping Kabin rates include both one- and two-room Kabinns.

Stunning natural beauty mingles with more than a hint of British Colonial days in Victoria, British Columbia's sophisticated capital on Vancouver Island. The Victoria West KOA captures the beauty and charm with its forested mountain setting off scenic Malahat Drive. Breathe in the sweet scent of fir and cedar trees and listen to the birds. Then drive about 20 minutes into town for high tea. The ornate Parliament buildings, red double-decker buses and pubs all reflect Victoria's British heritage, but the overall island spirit is decidedly Pacific Northwest. Play golf and hike trails overlooking the Strait of Juan de Fuca. Admire the lush blossoms and landscaping at famed Butchart Gardens, where fireworks light the sky on summer Saturdays. Your KOA hosts can arrange whale-watching and fishing excursions.
